

Laetrile 'plot' is denied

SAN DIEGO (AP) — A U.S. Customs Service agent insists there was no government conspiracy against our men on trial on charges of smuggling Laetrile into the United States.

"Yes, I am aware of such penalties (for conspiracy), and I still say that I am not aware of a conspiracy against citizens' rights in this case," said the customs agent, Robert W. Davis, under questioning Friday by one of the defendants, who are acting as their own attorneys.

The questioning by Dr. John Richardson drew admissions from Davis that government officers searched a shipment of the alleged cancer medication without a search warrant. Davis also said nothing in the shipments connected him to Richardson or the other defendants.

Richardson, an Albany, Calif., physician barred from practice for administering Laetrile, then accused the government of a conspiracy to link the men to illegal activities.

The four men now on trial are among 16 United States and foreign citizens indicted for alleged smuggling of the apricot-kernel extract into the country from Mexico over a period of several years.

The other trials are to be held later.

Council battle on stress evaluation

Quake on Hayward fault line

A mile earthquake rattled windows Sunday, but a seismologist said it wasn't strong enough to do any damage.

A spokesman at the University of California Seismographic Station said the quake at 9:46 a.m. PST was centered on the Hayward fault a few miles south of the university and registered about 2.0 on the Richter scale.

Berkeley and UC police said they each received about a half dozen calls from concerned residents but no reports of damage. Campus police said that an automatic alarm set for quakes of 2.5 or greater had not been triggered by the quake.

The seismologist said the tremor apparently was not an aftershock of a swarm of stronger tremors near here two weeks ago. On Jan. 8, a swarm of eight earthquakes ranging to about 4.6 on the Richter scale shook a wide area of the San Francisco Bay area. There was virtually no damage and no injuries.

The Richter scale is a measure of ground motion as recorded on seismographs. Every increase of one number means a tenfold increase in magnitude.

Generally, a quake of 3.5 can cause slight damage in a local area.

Museum's 'white Elephant Sale'

The council Monday voted 3-2 against Councilman Robert Luoma's motion for reconsideration of last week's action which forbids acceptance of the machine although it has already been donated to the police.

'Project Renewal' for nurses

ALBANY — Scheduling of a course titled "Project Renewal," designed for "inactive nurses" (those who have not held nursing positions in the last three or more years), was announced today by Sharon M. Iversen, R.N.M.S., coordinator of the class.

"The course provides an overview of nursing as it is today and acquaints the inactive nurse with the related changes in roles and responsibilities within the profession," Mrs. Iversen said.

"The series of five classes begins on Feb. 23 and ends March 30. Classes will meet from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. at the Orinda Masonic Hall. Tuition for the entire course is $150. RNs 65 years or older may attend the sessions free of charge as space permits.

"This course has been approved by the Board of Registered Nursing (provider No. 00737). Upon course completion, the nurse will then be eligible for renewal of licensure under the Continuing Education Law 2811.5 of the Nurse Practice Act," she concludes.

issue a "directive" to Police Chief James Simmons, prohibiting him from using any such machine in the future through any rental arrangement.

The PSE machine was purchased for $2,500 with money was raised by a private citizen's fund campaign during the past several months.

Chief Simmons said the "investigative tool" measures suspects' voice patterns, with any increase in stress" indicating that a statement may be false. Last year, the council turned down Simmons' request for the machine, saying there was not enough money in the budget.

While last week's council meeting echoed with arguments of those opposing the machine, numerous supporters spoke last night, including Chief Simmons and Leonard Keck, who spearheaded the fund campaign.

All 3-2 votes had Mayor Joyce Jackson, Vice Mayor Pat Griffin and Councilman Mike Gleason in the majority, with Councilmen Lewis Howell and Robert Luoma dissenting.

Several of the machine's supporters, including Jerome Blank, former three-time Albany mayor, and Hal Denham, Chamber of Commerce manager, unsuccessfully called for a "trial period."

Vice Mayor Griffin, who led the opposition to the machine, reiterated arguments of the machine's asserted unreliability and the alleged danger to constitutional rights. He added, "We are looking at the big picture, while the chief is involved in the day-to-day operation of the department."

Councilman Gleason said, "We must be allowed to take our positions on the basis of principle, not politics," adding that there is no council "vendetta" against the police and the people can express their will by passing an initiative at the polls.

Mayor Jackson, who was the swing vote in the controversy, expressed regret that council members did

California to refund $5.8 million in taxes

SACRAMENTO — State income tax returns now being pondered and filed by millions of Californians will result in 5.8 million refunds totaling about $800 million, State Controller Kenneth Corey said today.

"The early-bird returns already are trickling in to the Franchise Tax Board and as soon as they can be processed we will start issuing refund checks," Corey said. "Needless to say, those who file the earliest returns get the earliest refunds."

Last year the controller paid out more than $636 million in refunds shared by over 5.6 million income taxpayers.

"The most typical refund check last year was for $75 and it appears that will be true again this year," Corey said. "Of course, some will be larger and some smaller than $75."

Most of the refunds will be made to persons whose state income taxes were over-withheld from wages. Other refunds will go to nonwithholding taxpayers who overpaid on tax estimates, and to people who occupy rented homes but do not have income liability matching or exceeding their Renters Tax Credit.

Corey said the Franchise Tax Board expects about 8.6 million state income tax returns to be filed during 1977 as compared to 8.4 million filed last year. Over 8.1 million of the returns are expected to arrive between Jan. 1 and April 15 filing deadline.

State income tax filing forms and instructions for completing them already have been mailed to most taxpayers. These prominently call attention to several changes made in the state income tax law and filing provisions since last year.

"Each taxpayer can speed up his own refund by carefully following the instructions, properly completing and signing the tax return, and mailing it as early as possible," Corey said.

All Lions are busy....

...including Lions Club President Alan Caruso (above, left), and Don Chelamedos (right), chairman of the Albany Service Club's Eighth Annual Crab Feed. The pair were pictured foraging for fixin's for Friday's fete. A bottle of vintage grape juice produced the happy faces which will join another 400 beaming countenances and an unlimited amount of crabs, salad, baked beans, French bread, coffee, and unspecified vine-tages, for the dinner being served from 6 to 8:30 p.m. There will be dancing until one, for those who are able. A few reservations still are available, according to Don, who warned gourmets today that "no tickets will be sold at the door."

Sales, use tax funds distributed

SACRAMENTO — More than $59.8 million was distributed to California cities and counties this week in the January distribution of local sales and use tax funds, William M. Bennett, chairman, State Board of Equalization announced today. The funds represent the second advance payment for the fourth quarter 1976.

The cities of the state received $38.8 million and the counties $6.4 million for a combined cities and counties distribution of $45.2 million. In addition, the counties received $11.3 million from the 1/4 percent local sales and use tax for the county local transportation fund. The San Francisco Bay Area Rapid Transit District received $2.6 million and the Santa Clara County Transit District (SCCT) received $750,000 from the additional 1/4 percent sales tax paid in their respective counties. The BART counties are San Francisco, Alameda, and Contra Costa.

Albany received $21,250 as its share of the $45.2 million and the County of

'Host families' for AFS students are sought

ALBANY — The Albany chapter, American Field Service, is seeking families with Albany High School sophomores or juniors to host exchange students for the 1977-78 school year. Families interested in the program may contact Mrs. A. Berry, evenings. The family or families selected will host one student for the school year. The student will attend Albany High, and will be part of the host family, participating in regular activities and responsibilities of the family.

The family is not expected to provide extraordinary excursions for the student, and the local AFS chapter will assist the family with arrangements for special appearances the student may make at local clubs and organizations.

Darlene Shumway, host mother to current exchange student, Keiko Ishitaka, says, "Cultural exchange of this kind enriches the lives of family members and the student, as well."

Mrs. Shumway agrees with Mrs. Fern Luoma, host mother to three AFS exchange students, who says, "In this situation, the family and the student learn real give and take."

"Both women recommend the experience to anyone with available space."

Five Questions To Ask Before You Run an Advertisement

1. WILL IT STOP THE READER?

No matter how great a bargain you offer, your ad is wasted if no one reads it. Something in the advertisement must attract the reader's attention. The illustration, headline or featured items can be used to catch attention as the reader browses through the paper. First impressions are vital. Your ad has only a few seconds to grasp the reader's attention.

2. IS YOUR AD INTERESTING?

Is the copy fresh, original and important to the reader? Is your message designed to appeal to potential buyers? Is there some feature in your offer that will encourage a reader to read the entire advertisement? Newspaper advertising competes for readership with news stories and with other advertising. Yours must create interest or it will not be read.

3. ARE YOU "WANTED?"

Today's buyer is sophisticated. He's in a hurry and wants to know "What's in it for me?" Does your advertisement create a strong desire for your product or service? Unless the reader wants your product more than a competitor's offer or some other venture, you've lost him. Your ad must create a desire!

4. IS IT BELIEVABLE?

Does the advertising overpromise? Does the selling ideal sound a false note? An advertisement can be totally truthful, yet sound unbelievable. Better to underpromise and be believable than to overpromise and lose credibility.

5. DOES IT INVITE ACTION?

Every good salesman knows when to stop "selling" and ask for the order. An advertisement should be equally wise. The closing of your ad must tell the reader how, when and where to take advantage of your offerings. If you have properly done your job, the reader is now a 'buyer.' Your ad must invite action before he changes his mind.

We know that great advertising is not defined by rules, nor is it created by a formula. It is produced by creative people. We also know that most successful advertising has certain readily defined qualities. We have listed five—we know there are others. We would be most happy to help you produce advertising illustrating these good points.

It was developed by the Biomedical Interdisciplinary Curriculum Project, which exists to develop and disseminate a two-year precollege curriculum to prepare high school students for training programs leading to careers in the health field.

The Hall of Health exists to provide educational experiences for the promotion or preservation of good health and to supplement existing health education curriculum of elementary and secondary schools.

It is visited by people of all ages and is heavily utilized by school groups. Some 1500 people a month go through the hall, play its games, and view its displays.

Big Brother in Washington has, in the past forty years, been instrumental in giving most of the countries of the world over to the Communists.

Now with the aid of its staunchest stooge, the press, Big Brother is actually attempting to give away U.S. territory — the Panama Canal.

Now that Kissenger is being replaced we can change our slogan to: "Don't give Panama our Canal. Give them the 'liberal' press instead."

I'm convinced that's the way it should have been all along anyway.

Dear Sir:

The hundreds of young people in Albany who learned music from Jeanette Musselman will be saddened to hear of her passing this month. She died of cancer at her home in Pinole early in January. She is survived by her husband Bob Musselman, a businessman in Richmond.

Mrs. Musselman taught instrumental music in the Albany elementary schools from the 1940s until she was forced to retire because of her severe illness in 1972. She was a master teacher who took great pains with her pupils, and who took a deep personal interest in each and every one. Since most of her students went on into my orchestra and band classes at Albany High School, I can attest to the thoroughness of her teaching.

During the last few years of her tenure in the Albany Schools she was in great pain from her illness, and carried on in a situation that a normal person would have found intolerable. She taught on sheer will power and courage those last years. Jeanette had the character for that, but bitterly resented the fact that her condition kept her from doing the job that she would have liked.

I hope that all her many friends and pupils in Albany will mourn her passing as I have, but remember the joy that she brought into so many lives through music.

not express their viewpoint clearly several months ago, informing the fund raisers that there were doubts about the PSE.

Chief Simmons defended his machine, citing "guidelines" which provided that the suspect agree to take the PSE test, must be given details and must be "read his rights."

He said the machine had been rented from an Oakland firm about a half dozen times in the past three years, citing cases where it was successful.

After the council action, Simmons had "no comment." But one of his partners, private security officer Donald Stickle, warned the council, "If you try to handcuff the chair you will be sorry. He'll stand and let it happen."

Angriest was Margaret Keck, wife of the fundraiser. She described the council decision as an "excuse... a farce... a travesty... a punitive action against us and the chief."

She declared, "You call it a tool of fear, but it is a tool that blew it up out of proportion, made it into a big box with bells ringing. You talk about abuse of rights, you are abusing us."

Mayor Jackson's son-in-law replied that little effect and Mrs. Keck continued, "You are using your position to dip into something you know little about."

Mrs. Keck stated that she and others will consider circulating petitions and possibly court action.

Jerome Blank, who currently is president of the California Association of Realtors, urged the council to hold a trial period.

He said, "You talk of a tool of fear, but there is another kind of fear, that the people who must walk the streets at night."

"Why are you so concerned about the rights of criminals but not the people who have been the victims of the crimes?" he asked.

Citizen Tom McQuinn said people tell him the council is 3-2 against the police chief and they must "wait until the next election."

McQuinn appealed to the "younger" members of the council saying, "It takes a big person to admit he has made a mistake."

Vice Mayor Griffin, who made the motion to direct the chief against use of the machine, said, "We have spent much time in checking all the facts. I have heard anything new tonight. This situation is different from buying police radios."

Griffin added, "Mr. Keck told us he was going to raise the funds; he didn't ask us. My role as police liaison person on the council has been limited by the fact that the chief does not submit reports as the fire chief does. I do the best job I can."

Griffin said, "You can please all the people all the time. If this goes to the ballot it will be up to the voters. I'll not take a position for or against."

Louis Bell, a local attorney, urged the council to take strong action, directing the chief rather than merely passing a resolution of policy regarding the machine.

This was included in Griffin's motion.

'April in Paris' for 11 Albany High students

ALBANY — Eleven Albany High School students will participate in the "Educational Excursion to France," Patricia Moore, AHS French instructor, announced today. The tour is under the auspices of "The Experiment in International Living."

Students will leave for Europe on April 10 and return on the 23, according to Miss Moore, "after having spent 10 days living with a French family."

"In a final effort to raise money to defray some of the expenses," she said, "we will hold a car wash on Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., at the Stanford Station on the corner of San Pablo and Portland. Advance tickets for the wash are one dollar. The regular price is $1.50."

Car washers are David Corvello, Cammy Greer, Susan Bookmyer, Delta Peck, Vickie Shaw, Karl Quinn, Karen Besette, Judie Sugawara, Amy Lyon, Cathy Mullarkey and Jessica Hausman.

Optometrist opens office on Solano

ALBANY — Optometrist Michael Sonleitner announced today opening of offices at 1156 Solano Ave. Dr. Sonleitner, a graduate of U.C.-Berkeley, "is licensed to provide services ranging from visual analysis, contact lens examination, children's vision and vision training."

"We are offering patients straight, comprehensible information on their eyes and vision, while providing a wide range of services tailored to each individual's need," he said.

Recommendations for Albany waterfront

ALBANY — The Albany Citizens Waterfront Committee is making eight recommendations to implement plans for the proposed marina, restaurant complex and recreation area.

The city recently considered using redevelopment methods for obtaining loans to finance the $10 million project, but legalities are causing delays.

The waterfront land is located on tidelands conditionally granted to the city. The council has been advised in planning by "Environ," a consulting firm.

The recommendations: —Seek legislation amending the tideland grant to permit land uses shown in the Environ waterfront plan.

—Pursue a ruling concerning legal feasibility of forming a redevelopment agency for the waterfront.

—Investigate avenues for construction of the harbor breakwater by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

—Explore possibilities of obtaining federal and state funds to help finance the waterfront park.

—Initiate a settlement of the landfill operator's legal suit against the city.

—Discuss with the East Bay Regional Park District its possible involvement in the development of the waterfront park.

—Begin negotiations with Santa Fe regarding acquisition of the portion of its property included in the waterfront plan.

—Change present zoning ordinance to reflect land uses shown in the Environ waterfront plan.

Albany Rotary Club Three students participating in the American Field Service Program addressed members of the Albany Rotary Club at the organization's session Jan. 18.

Bill Rothschild, chairman of the Rotary program, said, in an introductory speech, that since Rotary started underwriting the AFS program in 1956, 30 Albany High School students have traveled "to various parts of the world for a year of high school."

"During the same period 22 students from different parts of the world have come to Albany to study and live for a year. Last Tuesday we had the pleasure of meeting two of these students from Japan and Denmark and an Albany student that spent the summer in Columbia, South America. Evald Jensen from Norresundby, Denmark and Keiko Ishitusuka from Japan gave us a slide description of their homelands. Peter Wallmann of Albany gave us a view of his experiences in Columbia," Rothschild concluded.

Upcoming events on the Rotary agenda include a club assembly at American Savings, at 1870 Solano Ave., Feb. 9, and a Valentine Dinner at Spenger's on Feb. 16.

LT. Col. Robert C. Ettinger, who answered to Bob Ettinger when he was president of the Albany High School senior class, circa 1954, recently became the first Air Force Test pilot to fly the revolutionary F-16A.

Ettinger put the 11-ton fighter plane through its paces at the Air Force Flight Test Center at Fort Worth, last week, and was awarded a "special achievement plaque" for his high-flown research.

Since high school days he has logged some 4,000 hours — most of the time in high-performance jet aircraft. A part of that time was spent in 100 missions over North Vietnam, while assigned to Ubon Royal Thai Air Base in Thailand.

Dale Robbins, commuting from her Albany home to San Francisco for the past 25 years, to serve as the SPCA's teacher representative, this week announced her retirement.

Praise flowed in, for her work with the Humane Society, but some believe the environmentalists should add a few plaudits. Dale, traveling all over the Bay Area for a quarter of a century to conduct classes sponsored by the society, had relied exclusively on public transportation to get her to her assignments from her home at 904 Ventura.

A charitable organization which refuses to accept money, is receiving some response, in the Albany area, to its appeal for eyeglasses. Ellis-Olson Mortuary has been shipping a box of spectacles to "New Eyes for the Needy, Inc.", about every two months. The non-profit organization, operating out of Short Hills, New Jersey, is requesting donations of discarded eyeglasses and valuable scrap metal such as jewelry, silverware, dentures, and hearing aids, to be restored and given to persons unable to buy them.

The city clerk of Albany, Patricia Dempster, became the grandmother recently, of a 6 pound-14-ounce Andrew William Lennert, son of Andrew and Juyale Faria Lennert. Grandmother and grandson are doing nicely.

Navy Hospital Corpsman Third Class Connie Fontanoza, 24, daughter of Patricia V. Suico of 935 Pierce St., Albany, has been selected as Sailor of the Quarter for the Naval School of Health Sciences, San Diego.

Fontanoza was chosen from among all the enlisted personnel assigned to the command, and was cited for her outstanding performance of duty, proficiency, leadership, initiative and military bearing during the fourth quarter of this year.

A 1974 graduate of Contra Costa College, San Pablo, with an associate of arts degree, Connie joined the Navy in June 1974.

Albany woman living in Colombian prison hell

By JOHN ADAMS
I-G Staff Writer

BARANQUILLA, Colombia — "It is hotter than hell. The water is full of disease and bugs, but it is so hot you have to drink it," reads a letter from Kelly Martin, an Albany woman being held in Baranquilla prison here.

Kelly runs the day she was apprehended in Colombia and charged with attempting to smuggle a quantity of cocaine back to the U.S. She is the daughter of famed baseball player and manager Billy Martin of the New York Yankees.

"My lawyer is trying to rip me off. No big thing. He just says he can't continue working on my case unless I give him more money," reads one of her letters.

Kelly has corresponded with longtime friend Mary Ward of San Pablo even after her imprisonment 14 months ago in Baranquilla. Her last letter is four months old, but its vivid description of the conditions in a Colombian jail should be stern warning to anyone traveling there to avoid drugs.

Kelly claimed in her defense that she was given the packet of cocaine by a man from Berkeley, whom she met in Colombia. She said he told her it was much needed medicine for a friend in the U.S. Colombian authorities took a dim view, however when they found the packet concealed on her body, and subsequently convicted her, with a sentence of three years.

Friend Mary Ward says she heard that Frank Sinatra, a friend of Billy Martin, said he would do everything in his power to free Kelly, but 14 long months later the young woman is still languishing behind bars.

"How much can a person take?" reads one letter. "I'm keeping on top, but sometimes it is rough. Nobody here really believes me so I don't talk about it. I've been a few places in my life but none come within a thousand miles of here. All I can say is that I thank God it is me here and not any of my friends. It only cools off five degrees at night, and then the mosquitoes come out for the kill."

Kelly worked as a secretary in Albany before her ill-fated trip. Her mother resides in Pinole. Her father, Billy Martin, spent a small fortune in attempting to gain his daughter's release but eventually came to believe that the Colombian lawyers handling his daughter's case were simply using it as a lever to get more and more money.

Her friend, Mary says the last time she saw Kelly was at her brother-in-law's wedding in September of 1975.

"Even the dumps at home are better living quarters than here," reads another letter. "There are so many changes in a day here, there are more head-trips than in a lifetime at home. I do want to come home."

Free clinic will screen high blood pressure cases

ALBANY — A free high blood pressure screening clinic will be available in Albany, in the Cortese Pharmacy at San Pablo and Solano avenues, from 1 p.m.

to 4 p.m. on Feb. 22. Sponsored by the Berkeley Community High Blood Pressure Control Program and Pharmacists Planning Service, the clinic will be staffed by trained health professionals.

After testing persons who show a need for medical follow-up will be referred to personal physicians or health department doctors. The clinics are being run during February as part of National Heart Month. About 23 million Americans are afflicted with some form of high blood pressure and only one out of every ten know it according to Heart Association figures.

Studies show that high blood pressure can lead to heart disease and other ailments such as stroke, kidney disease and brain damage.

Free pamphlets and educational materials will be available from the pharmacy during the test program.

Audubon to shed 'image'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The National Audubon Society is trying to shed its image as a conservation group that's strictly for the birds.

"I know we have a strong bird image," Dr. Elvis Stahr, president of the 360,000-member society, said Monday. "We probably have more bird watchers than any other organization on earth."

But Stahr, in an interview at the conclusion of a four-day meeting of the society's directors, said other endangered animals rate high on the preservation list.

"Alligators, whooping cranes, whales, and the wolf all are threatened with extinction," he said.

Founded in 1905 to "promote the conservation of wildlife and the natural environment," the society has devoted much of its time and money to preserving endangered species of birds.

Now, Stahr said, the society works on antipollution programs and operates summer conservation workshops as well as several wildlife sanctuaries. It also advocates human population control as necessary to maintain environmental quality.

San Pablo Reservoir

ORINDA — Fishing success for trout at San Pablo Reservoir for the period from January 10 through 16 improved slightly and could be rated fair. Cold weather still remains the big problem with temperatures in the low forties.

Wind chill factor lowers the actual temperatures to just below the freezing mark. For those 409 fishermen dressed warmly for these conditions this week, they were able to catch and report the following fish taken:

Trout.....750
Catfish.....13
Crappie.....8

The average amount of time spent in fishing per fisherman was 4.7 hours for 1.8 trout and 1.9 fish of all species.

The following fish plant was made last week, 2,500 trout averaging 1/4 pound by Fish & Game.

GGF sets big stakes schedule

Golden Gate Fields today announced a record stakes schedule offering more than $1 million in purses, including two stakes races in excess of $100,000, for its spring thoroughbred season that opens Feb. 4.

Racing secretary Harry Krovitz said the Albany track will offer horsemen a record $6 million in total purses during the 92-day seasons of the Pacific and Tanforan racing associations.

This includes $1,080,000 in 29 stakes races, the first time a Northern California racetrack topped the million-dollar mark in stakes purses for one season.

Golden Gate Fields also has become the first track north of the Tehachapi Mountains to offer two stakes races exceeding $100,000 in purses. They are the $150,000-guaranteed California Derby for three year olds on Saturday, March 5, and the $100,000-added Golden Gate Handicap for three year olds and upward over a mile and a sixteenth on the turf, April 16.

"We are continually trying to upgrade our racing program," said Krovitz who is embarking on his fifth year as racing secretary.

"By doubling the added money for the Golden Gate Handicap, we hope to attract a better caliber of thoroughbred from throughout the United States. We also have increased our overnight purses to show our appreciation for the loyal support from horse owners in Northern California."

The California Derby and Golden Gate Handicap highlight the 57-day season of the Pacific Racing Association which kicks off the spring meet. The two big races of the 35-day Tanforan Racing Association season are the Rolling Green Handicap on May 7 and the Yerba Buena Handicap May 30, both offering $75,000 in added money over a mile and three-eighths on the grass.

There will be $660,000 in stakes purses distributed during the Pacific portion of the meet.

Albany, Flenoid rule mat tourney

Behind Co-Outstanding Wrestler Paul Flenoid and overtime winner Kurt Heffernon, Albany High repeated its championship in the Albany Invitational Wrestling Tournament Saturday by edging El Cerrito, 186-172, in the eight-team fray.

Heffernon, who's been wrestling only since Christmas due to an injury, stopped the Gauchos' Oscar Seastrunk 8-5 in overtime in the 183-pound division. The Gauchos came back in the heavyweight class with Mitch Martinez' decision over Albany's Murry Hoyle, but by that time it was too late.

Flenoid shared his trophy with San Marin's

Eric Leslie by stopping Skyline's Peter Means 15-3. San Marin's Brad Van Vleck on a pin in the third round and the 133-pound championship victory over Glen Trass of Oakland Tech, 13-7.

Cougars coach Kermit Bankston "thought we had a chance coming into the meet, but I didn't know how much of one. We looked for El Cerrito, San Marin and Oakland Tech as the teams to beat."

Actually Albany improved over last season, this time placing six wrestlers — four of them champions — into the finals. The Cougars should also wrap up their second-straight league title next week at San Leandro.

CLOSE CALL — El Cerrito's Steve Marxheimer (black shoes) rode Albany's David Corvello enroute to a fifth-place victory at the Albany Wrestling Tournament Saturday. Despite the loss, Albany won the tournament over the Gauchos.

Holladay in match with Evert

SAN FRANCISCO — Terry Holladay, the tall, talented left-hander from La Jolla, California will challenge defending champion Chris Evert in the seventh Virginia Slims of San Francisco to be held February 28 thru March 6, at the Civic Auditorium.

Evert won a dramatic final last year over Evonne Goolagong, 7-5, 7-6 after nearly being upset by Marita Redondo in the semis. That match, one of the most memorable of the season, finally went to Chris 6-7, 7-6, 7-6. Her road to the victory stand and the $20,000 first prize check in this year's $100,000 tournament could not be tougher than it was in '76.

100-year garbage dumps possible with new method

Throughout the nation, one of the biggest problems facing the cities and towns is planning for the future disposal of solid waste. The impetus has come from both the Federal and state levels, where legislation is forcing communities to devise long-term plans.

Because these laws restrict landfill expansion in many areas as well as the use of incineration, some municipal officials are predicting that landfill costs will increase shortly at the rate of $1 per ton per year.

One possible solution may be found in the composition of waste, according to a new brochure published by Raytheon Service Co. of Burlington, Mass. Studies show that, by weight, 75 to 80 percent of typical solid waste is composed of combustible organic material. If these materials can be extracted and sold as a replacement for conventional fuels, savings could result both in money and landfill space.

Electric utilities, cement plants, and paper mills, for example, are already seriously considering using refuse-derived fuel because it is less expensive and more readily available than most other fuels.

Due to the high percentage of resources that can be recovered, the remainder going to landfill could be reduced by 85 to 95 percent. This means that the life of an existing landfill could be extended as much as twenty-fold. For a city or county that had five years of life left in a landfill, the period of use could be extended by as much as 95 years.

A project that will test these principles is under way in Monroe County, New York.

Tax rules on charitable contributions

SAN FRANCISCO — All charitable contributions of property must be substantiated to be claimed as a deduction, the Internal Revenue Service said today.

Any deduction claimed for property donated to an organization must be verified through a statement to the IRS listing the dates and amounts of each contribution, the type of property donated, and the method of determining the property's value, the IRS said.

If used furniture, clothing or other property, for example, is donated, it may be claimed as a deductible contribution to the extent of its fair market value. Fair market value is the price at which the property would change hands between a willing buyer and seller.

For each piece of property valued over $200, the original cost or other basis in the property, fair market value, appreciation, conditions of the gift and a copy of the gift's appraisal must also be included in the tax return. This required information must accompany the tax return, according to the IRS.

Two free IRS pamphlets, Publication 561, "Valuation of Donated Property," and Publication 526, "Income Tax Deduction for Contributions," discuss contributions and can be obtained from most IRS offices.
